Employers have an opportunity and a right to control, manage and recommend on every aspect of an employees on-the-job injury. Ask yourself these simple questions:

- ✦ Does your adjuster have the ability to provide current status or other critical information regarding, medical care, case management, investigation and litigation, upon request?
- ✦ As an employer, are you told you are not legally allowed to review certain claims information?
- ✦ Are you aware of where your money is being spent?
- ✦ Are you frustrated with the slow response or lack thereof?
- ✦ Are you relying upon a disinterested third party to provide decision making information?
